

Tutorial 5

1. With example, describe how you can create a simple JSP page.
2. Explain how a JSP page is processed.
3. List and describe the use JSP scripting constructs can be used to insert Java code into a resultant servlet.
4. JSP provides eight predefined variables from the servlet environment that can be used with JSP expressions and scriptlets. specify THREE (3) use of predefined variables.
5. A JSP directive is a statement that gives the JSP engine information about the JSP page. Describe the use of directives in JSP.
6. Write syntax to create an instance for a JavaBeans component.
7. A JavaBeans component provides the get and set methods for reading and modifying its private properties. Show how you can get and set the property in JSP using syntax.
8. Suppose you want to get the value of the input parameter named score and set it to the JavaBeans property named score. Write the code to show the properties are associated with input parameters.
9. Web applications developed using JSP generally consist of many pages linked together. Show how you can forward a page to another page by using syntax.